Exhibit A

The purpose of this document is to present a statement of work to be performed for the Community Development, Code Enforcement Division for the City of Huntsville, Alabama.

Project Overview. An application known as the Code Enforcement Management System (CEMS) currently exists to provide an easy way to manage property maintenance and code violations. The application is currently using Microsoft® SQL Server as a database for the storage and control of the data that is required to perform these duties. This data includes property information, inspection request and appointments, notices, city code violations, and property citations.

Software. The current application will need ongoing maintenance, enhancements, and optimizing of the database. Creation of additional tables, forms, and macros may be required as the database expands. Modification to existing tables, forms, and macros may also be required to achieve better productivity and tracking of existing and future data. The graphical user interface may need to be modified and enhanced as needed to provide for ease of use to the end users.

The Code Enforcement Management System (CEMS) application provides for the following functionality:

- a. Property Maintenance. Allows users to directly add and update inspection requests as a result of complaints and to create notices that are sent to the property owners. A record of all notices served and the pending actions associated with these actions is stored in the database for tracking, historical purposes, report generation, and analysis.
- b. Property Management. Allows users to manage and track all associated information with specific properties. Included are the legal description, census tract, district code for this division, and an address that must be broken down into parts by number, street name, street type, and location. It also provides a means to trace the owners, real estate agents, and tenants for each piece of property.
- c. Work Order Management. Allows users to create and modify work orders for work to be performed by the field staff. Upon completion of each work order, an invoice is created providing an itemized listing of services rendered and the costs associated with each one based on the employee's wages, equipment costs, and administration costs. Certain items such as the wages paid to employees are hidden to most users.
- d. Billing, Assessments and City Council Resolutions. Generation of billing and lien letters, notice of property assessment and discharge of liens are all accomplished through this module. City Council Resolutions for Lots Cut and Board and Secure are just a few of the agendas which are generated.

e. Housing Board. Schedule cases requesting additional time to be brought before the Housing Board for approval. Generate Housing Board Agenda/Addendum, letters, and minutes of each meeting.

f. Compliance Cases and Citations. Monitor and track cases which have been assigned to a compliance officer or have been issued a citation. All activities are recorded through to the ruling of the court case.

g. Emergency Home Repair Program Cases. Monitor and track cases which have applied for help through the Emergency Home Repair Program and their approval status.

h. Public Nuisances. Monitor and track Public Nuisance cases from City Council Resolutions through abatement.

i. Activity Reports. Monitor and track the number of inspections, re-inspections, and notices issued per area and census tract. Data can be summarized for weekly and monthly reports.

j. Administration Module. Consists of Employee Management (allows for managers to keep an online record of each employee and the information associated with each employee such as name, address, phone number, hourly labor rate, data of hire, etc.), Administrative and Custom Reports, Equipment Management, Street Types and Directions, Areas and Census Tracts, Violation Codes, Violation Types, Holidays and Productivity Tools (Street Name Spell Checker, Past Due Notices, Work Order Activity).

k. Statistics Module. Statistical reports and graphs can be generated regarding the number of complaints, and the number of notices issued, extended, completed and assigned to legal as well as the number of citations issued and court appearances for a given time period.

l. On-line help. Online help is provided through the user interface at any time.

m. Security. Allows the managers to maintain control over which employee has access to specific records, forms and data.

Software Enhancements. Enhancements to the current application software are to include real-time historical tracking, ad-hoc query capability, advanced citation functionality, and the development of additional special needs projects regarding the departments Deferred Maintenance Home Repair Program.

Packaging. Application software will be delivered on CD(s), DVD(s), or other appropriate method. No warranties other than defects in material are expressed, or implied.
